GAIL PASS

To Green and White our loyalty we give,
Those colors fair, that we have learned to love;
They mean to us these happy, youthful days,
When we are starting on our divers ways.
And through the years that we are yet to live,
While still the sun is shining up above,
Fond memories will make us see again,
The Green and White of our dear Ottawa Hills,
Where now we stand, a grateful, loyal student band.

Forward

Our Thanks

To the future seniors
We bid a fond adieu.
As friends to trust and turn to
We'll always think of you.

You've made our school days happy—
The good days and the bad
But through it all we'll never forget
The wonderful times we've had.

It seems like only yesterday
That Hallowe'en was here;
And that last graduation night,
And all the New Year's cheer.

The bus rides to the tournaments,
We cheered and feared each game.
The songs we sang and danced to—
These memories we'll retain.

So here's our thanks to one great class,
To each and everyone,
For all that you have done for us
To make our years of fun.

A toast to you we offer;
In thanks to you we rise
You've helped to make our high school years
The best ones of our lives.

Dedication

It is customary for a class to dedicate their yearbook to the person, who in their opinion, has done the most for them as a group and for the school.

It is, therefore, with grateful appreciation that we, the class of 1954, dedicate our yearbook to those people who have helped us the most, taught us the difference between right and wrong and guided us through these twelve years of school.

They have seen our good qualities and admire them; they have seen our bad qualities but because of their love for us they are able to overlook them. In the years to come may we live up to the dreams they have built around us and make them proud that we have dedicated this the fourteenth annual MESASA to them, our parents.

Seniors

Senior Class

The Senior Class in its last year at Ottawa Hills had as president, for his second year, Ben Bowker. Also serving for his second year was vice president, Dick Burgie. Carolyn Mindel was corresponding secretary and Barbara Miller recording secretary, while Janet Haunstein worked, as treasurer, to find money for our class gift, the senior play and the expenses of graduation week. Trying to maintain order as sergeant-at-arms was Mike James. John Tuschman, Joe Kabat, Larry Baunach and Erwin Thal represented the class on student council.

Among the traditions and memories this class leaves behind are: the bus trips to the professional football games at Detroit, the senior play, the Tuesday parties, the fun of going to a prom with no worries, the walk into assemblies with the underclassmen standing up for them, the putting out of their own yearbook, the graduation parties and the big day itself, the thrill of placing team members on the M.V.L. teams, and the general excitement of being the graduating class—"the oldest."

This class has had fun together but it has worked together too. All the fun however has made the class overlook the work and it ends this year as it has the ones before — with a sense of pride and accomplishment.

Class History

To the members of the Eighth Grade,

After receiving a phone call this morning from an irate parent concerning your behavior on the bus trip to Fremont, I feel it my duty to at long last reprimand you, not only for things you have done this year but in the years behind you. For instance, was it necessary to build such a large fire so close to the high school building at your welcoming party for Sandy Herman. Also did you think that I could forget the day that I was summoned to your classroom to listen to Larry Baunach make excuses for the removal of all the screws from Jean Epstein's desk? I realize Larry, that such an explanation wouldn't have been needed if Jeanie had behaved; it's just too bad that this mechanical ability of yours was lost in the home ec classes when the girls showed such amazing talents in shop.

Why it was so imperative for the whole class to stand around John Gaspari I never did find out. The fascination for the boys must have been his toy planes and cars, but I can't understand what was so interesting to the girls. When your mothers came to observe your classes, they must have wondered what strange language was being taught. They knew it wasn't English when they heard you saying the foreign sounding words, "COPPAN YOPPOU SOPPEAK OPP LOPPANGOPPUAGUE?" Also imagine their amazement upon finding that opinion books were being used in place of Tom and Jerry readers.

In your third grade year the boys began to arrive home with black eyes and bruises after football games in Louise Brown's backyard. I had a hard time explaining to the boys' parents that the girls didn't mean to play so roughly. In the second grade you wasted a whole year arguing among yourselves whether the name of your new classmate was Henry Herbert or Herbert Henry. In between arguments you attempted to learn housekeeping but the one who seemed to bear the greatest burden of the work was little Jack Moor, who busied himself all day long watering the plants.

More amazing to me than the day Kimme Hiett came to school with a self-written tardy excuse was the day that I discovered that George and Harold Hertzfeld had taught their dog to chew gum. We never were able to get another girl scout leader for the class after Joanie Black, Donna Holtzman, and several of the other girls locked themselves in their scout leader's car when they were supposed to be hiking and hiked when they should have been riding in the car.

Imagine Sarah Rudy's surprise when upon her return to the class from a few years in California she found that your new sport was chasing Harry Bugbee home from school. When you lost interest in that you turned to digging fox holes which were so located that they could be used not only as snares for P.T.A. going parents but also as battlegrounds. These were finally filled in after a "deadly blow" from a chestnut caused Jim Pearce to be taken to the hospital.

If these facts alone were included in my note to you, you would wonder how you could ever have gotten through nine years in the elementary school. However in your past I can also remember enough good things to counteract the foregoing incidents. How proud the entire elementary school was when Adelaide Kieser won the title of "Miss Daisy Mae" at the Sadie Hawkins dance and remember when you gave up your recesses to listen to stories of the Trojan War. In the sixth grade Jim Pearce did an excellent job of governing the school as student council president. John Hamann's annual party brought out everyone's best manners even though you usually came home quite battered and beaten. You all showed your best diplomacy at one of the seventh grade birthday parties by gracefully accepting regular ice cream when the ice cream cake could not be cut—even with a heated knife. The girls displayed social charms at a tea given for their mothers before the initial performance of the first dramatic production of the Proud Princess.

I must admit that you have done almost as much good as bad but try to remember that it is almost time for you to go on to high school. Try to take your good record with you and leave the bad behind so that your next four years will be as much fun for your teachers as yourselves.

Sincerely,
An Interested Onlooker

To the Senior Class, May, 1954

Four years ago you received a letter reprimanding you for your behavior during your grade school years. Since I was the one chosen to write that letter it seems quite ironic that I should also be the one chosen to praise your activities during high school.

September 11, 1950, what a memorable date! You, as the freshmen class felt quite at home in your new surroundings. Following tradition you were initiated into the gatherings at the Coffee Cup after games, which became weekly events for you with the exception of the night of the Holland game when "Chug-Chug" broke down on Byrne Road with nine of the girls even though you had been assured by Flash Bauman's "that you could go to Alaska and back in that car." Ginny DeVilbiss spent most of the year in bandages from her weekly automobile accidents while the boys spent most of the year in the Taboo Room.

The Villagers have never recovered from the shock of being asked by Jim Arthur, Sherri Nikazy, Dorothy Jackson and others for a cuspidor and a set of false teeth the night that 9-1 gave 9-2 a scavenger hunt in payment of a bet over the collection of tax stamps. You elected a new classmate, John Williams, as homeroom president and then spent most of your time hiding his books in girls' lockers. This also was the year that for some unknown reason the boys tried to get to Core class early enough to get the first row seats.

Your Sophomore year new drivers' licenses became predominant. The Hertzfelds began their innumerable string of cars known for their near empty gas tanks. Janet Haunstein, destined to become Homecoming Queen her senior year, was an attendant to the queen at the school's victory over M.V. while Clara Mercer embarked on her dramatic career in the all-school play.

The girls decided that they must have a slumber party after every game and of course the boys usually crashed them. This year also reminds me of the one serious blackmark against your record; almost once a week the girls were brought before Miss Sager on charges of misconduct. Being responsible for the decorations at graduation was a job you were handed. They looked beautiful but none of you could ever force Bob Miller and some of his fellow culprits to tell where they got all those flowers.

You celebrated (?) the first day of your junior year with a 6:00 A.M. breakfast and then dashed to school at 8:29 to elect your president and vice-president, Ben Bowker and Dick Burgie, who were destined to reign their senior year also in these positions. Not satisfied with merely a fall dance you planned a progressive party beforehand which was as much fun as the dance. After an evening of Hallowe'ening the class hid out at Sue York's at a very closed open house. Then following mid-terms another sort of progressive party was held. Starting with an open house at Teddy Fox's, it moved on to a game played on Kenwood Boulevard and its side streets. When you discovered that the cars couldn't take the ruts as well as previously anticipated you made your way to the Green Derby to recuperate.

Homeroom rabble raiser, Mike Gordon was appointed to help in the writing of a class constitution, mostly to keep him out of trouble. The constitution being very well done was approved by the class making you the first class in school history to have one. On the occasion of the February birthdays of several of the boys the girls decided to bake a cake. Such a monster has never before been created, but luckily, Dave Owen, to whom it was partially intended was saved by an attack of flu.

Wearing out from a strenuous evening at Carolyn Mindel's, your weaker classmates left for home.—The next day they learned to their amazement that overnight Erwin Thal had arranged for a bus to Detroit and tickets to a Detroit professional football game. You really had a great time at that game; so great in fact that you took this trip again in your senior year. As you neared the end of this year you realized that the student council elections were your responsibility; therefore, you launched into an unusually spirited campaign ending with the election of John Tuschman for president.

Everyone could tell just by listening when a junior boy was coming because of such sayings as; "It's sickening", "be happy", "I'm tasting it", "Yea, but think of the fun" and the most famous of them all, Dan Starsky's immortal, "You're right there".

You ended the year by giving one of the best proms ever given even though at the last minute you were tempted to call it off when you found that the important detail of having a piano had been forgotten.

Your senior year added many more achievements to your record: Jerry Shulak returned to school with two golf championship titles, Bill Heiles became a celebrity by receiving first place in the state on the senior scholarship tests, Joan Tuschman only dropped her transmission once during the entire year, and Don Kent began driving a new car to school.

You must miss Nan Scharschmidt's trouble with exploding chemicals in chemistry class, Terry Wheaton's constant pleadings with the music teachers, and the Core classes in which Adrienne Pass could talk herself out of anything, including a good grade, but these seem to have remained a part of your past.

You have had your share of T.G.I.T. parties and class fun, which Lois Thackeray with her crazy games in home ec and Baby Heinl and Bill Albring with their antics in art class have helped to keep alive. Many of your free hours have been spent listening to Barbara Miller's "Hospital Tales" and Joe Kabat's recitations of the night life of New York with an occasional side reference to the United Nations.

When on graduation night you walk out of the gym, diplomas in hand, realizing that the underclassmen are standing up in your honor you'll think of the fun you have had and the friends you have made. Paramount in your minds may be college and the years ahead, but you'll never forget your years together at Ottawa Hills.

With best wishes,
The Same Interested Onlooker

Junior Class

Enthusiastic participation in many activities seemed to be the key note of this year's junior class. As sponsors of the all-school play they did a fine job. The class established a new tradition, Oscar and Tobias, which were placed in the trophy case. Each week Oscar was given to the class with the highest attendance and Tobias was presented to the under-dog. They were also responsible for the sponsorship of buses to a few games, arriving with a pumpkin at their destination one particular evening. How about that juniors?

During elections Dave Melhorn was railroaded into class presidency. Larry Mindel as the vice president, was chairman of the all-important junior-senior prom committees. Sue Stowell was chosen corresponding secretary, and Bill Anspach, recording secretary. Treasurer, Tod Roemer, held down about the most difficult and important job in the class; that of keeping the juniors' finances in order—a job which he performed well. Spencer Stone as sergeant-at-arms had trouble trying to preserve some semblance of order. Representatives to the governing body of the school were: Sally Shawaker, Dave Melhorn, and Dave Glow.

The juniors of '55 are looking forward to next year which will be hard as well as fun. At long last they will be the leaders of the school!

Sophomore Class

The class of 1956 under the leadership of Carol Crampton, president, had a very busy and eventful year. Stan Howard and Hugh Laughlin presided when the president was absent. Margie Fuller and Debbie Wuerfel had the task of recording the class affairs, while Diane Rasmussen and Bob Hinkle kept the financial matters straight. The class was well represented on Student Council by Phil Stitcher, John Davis, and John Hill.

The main activity of the year was the talent night, made possible through the efforts of Mr. Parsons and Mr. Bogan. Here the future Thespians displayed their talents.

During their many class meetings they found time to write a constitution fashioned after this year's senior class constitution, which they can use as a guide through their remaining year at school.

The Sophomores were very active in sports and other outside activities. They sponsored many buses to away games and took money from other classes by winning attendance contests which showed a great deal of school spirit.

Freshman Class

The class of '57 launched into the scholastic and activity whirl of O.H.H.S. as real Freshmen. They were soon carrying their weight in all phases of school life. Class business was transacted with a capable group of officers, namely President: Elizabeth Burns, Vice President: Ann Schieb, Secretary; Donna Goodman, and Treasurers: Tam Kahle and Tom Glow. The Freshmen were ably represented on Student Council by Sue Rairdon, Bill Bourne, and Lee Olsen.

The Freshman girls are noted for their pep, while the boys are noted for their outstanding athletic ability. The Junior High football team, among whose members were a number of boys in the Freshman class, won the League Championship this year. Their basketball team has also had an active season.

Freshmen have also participated in choruses and the all-school play.

The class of '57 has had a good year and looks forward to even better ones.

Eighth Grade

The class of '58 has had a wonderful year under the leadership of Earl Staelin, considering we are the youngest class in the school. The other officers are Joe Heinl, vice president; Sarah Macomber, secretary; Betsy Eeles and Jim Acklin, treasurers, and Rodger Owen, sergeant-at-arms.

The Student Council members are Gail Pass, Jim Skow, and Jim Tenney.

We have two members from foreign countries, Austria and Argentina, which have made our classes most interesting.

The class had many parties during the year, one of which was in the scout house early in the year. Dancing to the juke box, the party seemed to be enjoyed by everyone.

The job of selling season passes was given to the eighth grade and their task was well accomplished.

The class is looking forward to next year since we will not be the tots of the school and will feel more at ease. We hope to make it a bigger and better year!

Season Highlights

The 1953 Ottawa Hills football team under the leadership of Head Coach Jack Parsons wound up its season with a record of two wins, six setbacks, and one draw. The Arrows posted a 1-3 record in league competition.

After giving up 20 points in the season opener to Elmore, Ottawa Hills came to life as John Levis took a 10 yard pass from Dave Glow for the first Arrow score of the season. The team went on to hold their opponents scoreless in the second half and almost came out victorious as they were deep in Elmore territory when the clock ran out with the scoreboard showing Ottawa Hills on the short end of a 20-14 score.

In the North Baltimore game the Arrows were on the one yard line when the final gun went off. Ottawa Hills managed to run up 17 first downs to their opponents 9 although they were outscored 6-0.

Ottawa Hills conquered Liberty Center 32-20 for their second victory of the season. The game was highlighted by a recovered fumble in the end zone by Arrow center Ben Bowker and a touchdown run of 52 yards on an intercepted pass by George Hertzfeld. Ottawa Hills played Rising Sun, a newcomer on our schedule, to a 0-0 deadlock.

The Arrows, although outscored in points, piled up 106 first downs to their opponent's 93. George Hertzfeld led the team in scoring with 29 points followed by his brother Harold with 18.

Dick Burgie and George Hertzfeld were selected for the ALL-MVL first team while Jerry Shulak and Dave Glow made the second team. Honorable Mention went to Jay Decker, Dan Starsky, Ben Bowker, John Levis, Harold Hertzfeld and Jack Moor. At the end of the season the team elected Ben Bowker and Dan Starsky honorary co-captains, and Larry Mindel was chosen most valuable substitute.

The Arrows got off to a fine start after only seven days of practice by edging Lyons 53-49. After dropping their next four straight they edged out a strong Alumni team by two points. The highlight of the season came when Ottawa Hills defeated high ranked Archbold 47-43 who had previously given the Arrows their worst defeat of the season. The team had won three in a row before meeting DeVilbiss who put an end to the longest winning streak of the year. Girls' Recreation Association

The Girls' Recreation Association under the leadership of Sue York, was a very active organization this year, carrying out a well co-ordinated intramural sports program which began in the fall with field hockey. The competition in this sport was intense among the classes and we ended the season by beating our greatest rivals, Maumee Valley, by a three to one score.

The winter months brought basketball, volleyball and swimming. The latter was held at the Y.W.C.A. once a week and was greatly looked forward to by the girls. In the spring the sports turned to softball, tennis and badminton. All during the year many social activities were held.

The other officers of this club were Kim Hiett as vice-president, Judy Williams, treasurer, and Carolyn Mindel, secretary.

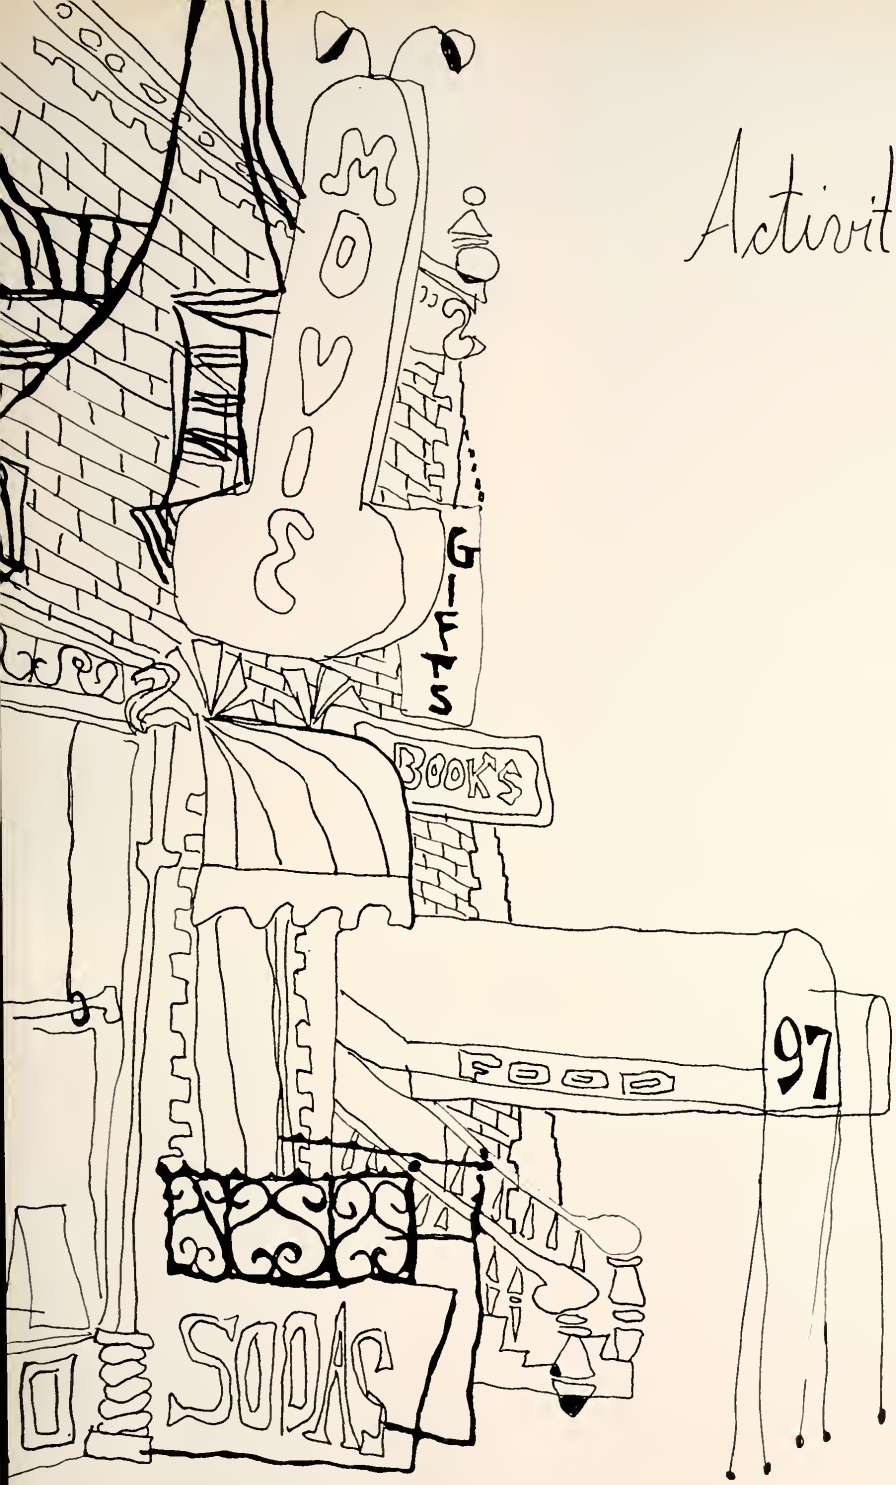
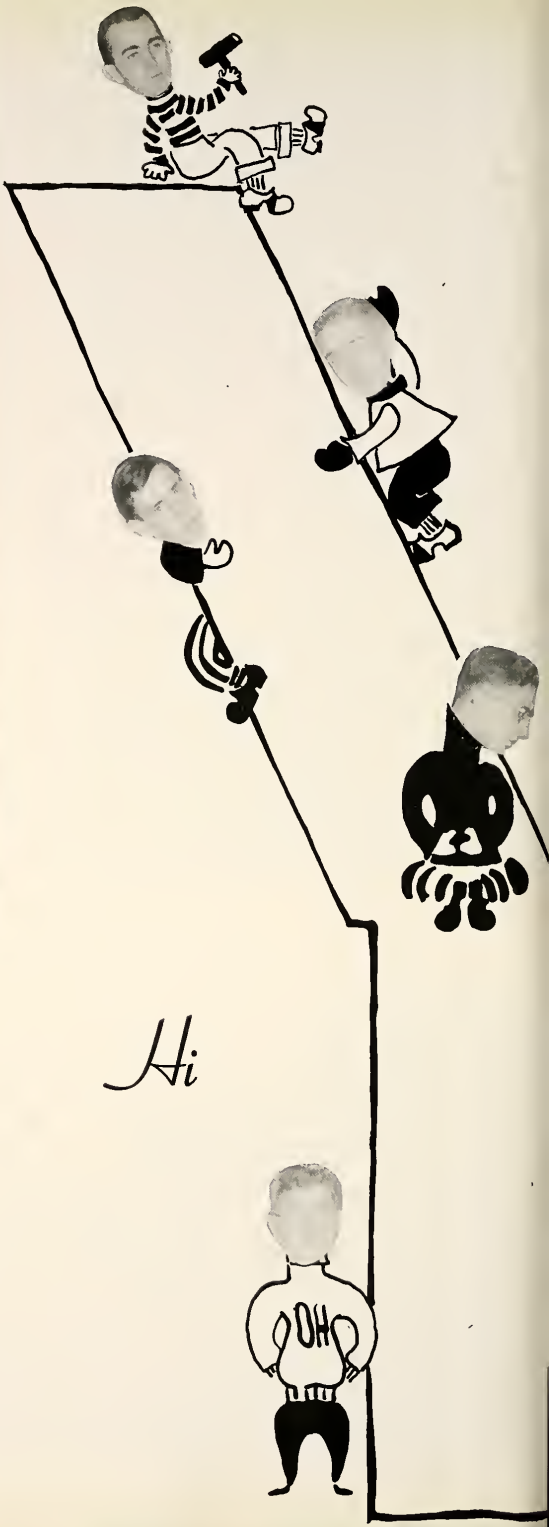
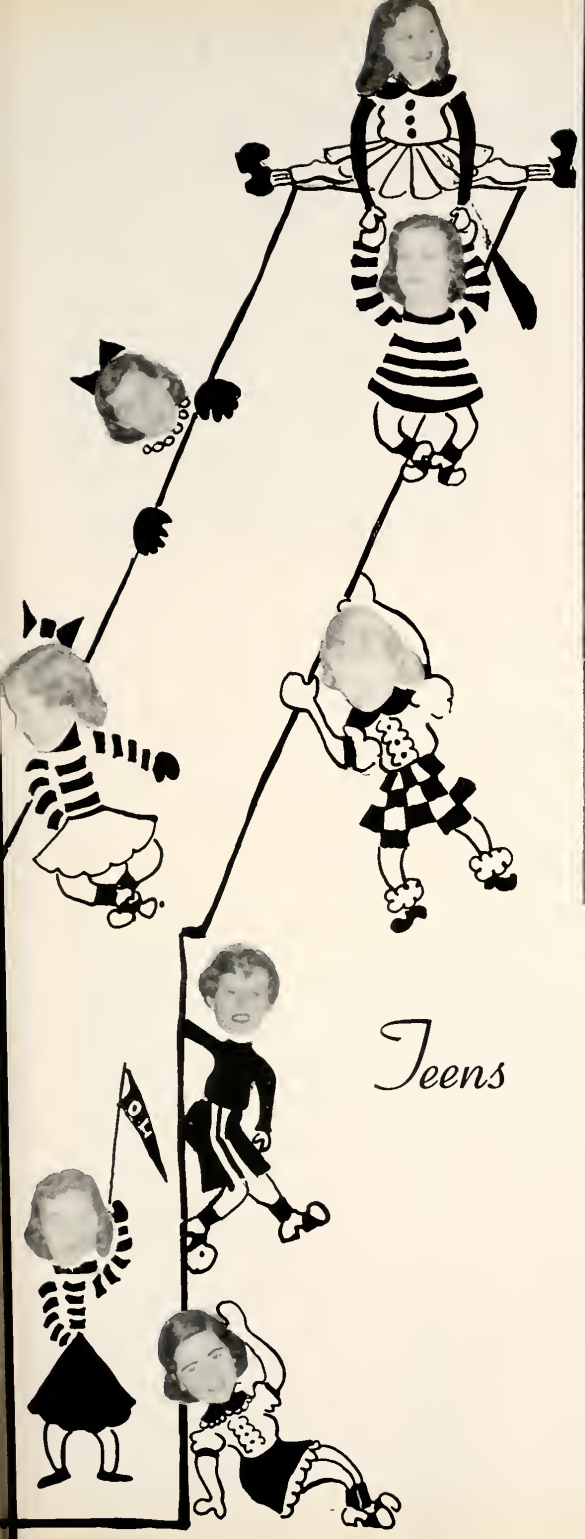
Activities





At the beginning of the year Dick Burgie, president, met with his cabinet, which consists of Joe Kabat, vice-president; Dave Owen, secretary, Bill Heiles, treasurer, and Jim Pearce, chaplain, to work out a long range program including many activities.

All through the year the club has worked to carry out this program and has done a good job. Among some of the most interesting projects the club worked on were the dance in the fall, the Thanksgiving basket and the many meetings with speakers.



Teens

As president, Barbara Miller has led this group during an industrious year. The other officers in this organization are Kitty Acklin, vice-president, Donna Holtzman, corresponding secretary, Clara Mercer, recording secretary, Sally Shawaker, treasurer, Margie Bensinger, sergeant-at-arms, and Kim Hiett, social chairman. Teddy Fox replaced Dianne Furst as chaplain when Dianne moved.

As usual the club did many things during the year including a bake sale, collecting clothes for Japanese people and helping to put on a dance.

Student Council

The Student Council started to work early in order to plan for the coming year's events. These included: The Home Coming celebration planned for the weekend of the Rising Sun game, November 6. The traditional Dad's Night was held at the last football game. The moms had their night at the Sylvania basket ball game. Council also set about to encourage school spirit by creating a contest between the classes for the best skit presented at the pep sessions.

In February the annual assembly was presented with the purpose of stimulating interest in council affairs. It created such interest that another was held later in the year.

This year's council has been a hard working and sincere group. These and other activities can testify to that.

The Arrowhead aims for co-operation among faculty and students, and unanimous support of all worthy school and community functions. We work to develop and maintain good school-spirit and sportsmanship, and continually strive to uphold scholarship. Students are urged to give their opinions without fear of criticism.

The Library Staff

The library staff, which consisted only of seniors this year, was directed by Mrs. Burkhardt. The students, under her direction, have learned how to run a library.

New books have been processed and shelved and bulletin boards decorated with interesting themes. Jobs were completed daily to keep the library running smoothly.

Drivers' Education

Started at Ottawa Hills in 1946 this class has become very popular not only with the students but also with their parents. Under the direction of Mr. Bogan the students who take this course learn the fundamentals of good driving and it is hoped that by learning these the amount of accidents that happen not only to teenagers but also to adults will be greatly lessened.

This year the music department under the direction of Mr. Dorlay, presented a Christmas pageant resembling those which were traditional during the Middle Ages. The chorus entered the darkened gym in a procession carrying candles, colorful medieval banners, and a beautiful figure of the Virgin Mary. The spectacular effect of this entrance was due largely to the work of the art department under the direction of Mr. Woodward. The theme of the program was carried out by a selection of religious songs including a Christmas Cantata and the "Hallelujah Chorus" from Handel's Messiah.

Other accomplishments of the choruses this year include singing a short program for the principals' division of the Northwestern Ohio Teachers' Convention in October, entering a number of soloists in the music contest in April, performing a spring concert near the end of the year, and, in general, aging Mr. Dorlay by several years.

The two dramatic productions given by the Ottawa Hills comedians and tragedians also provided some memorable occasions. This year, as usual, the junior class was responsible for the All-School Play, which was under the direction of Mr. Dille. In the latter part of November the actors and actresses of O.H.H.S. took to the stage for an exciting dramatic production—"The Madwoman of Chaillot." In the manner and tradition of its illustrious predecessors, the play was given complete with temper tantrums and spilled grease paint. Joe Lionel Barrymore Kabat played a typically political role as the Ragpicker, while Dana Helen Hayes Diemer as the Madwoman was a superb tragic heroine and Joel Rudy Valentino Levine was at his romantic best as Pierre. Of course, this only begins to enumerate the fine cast of this unforgettable production.

As this is written, the Senior Play has not yet been chosen. But, from our long experience, we can safely predict that the production will be an enjoyable and profitable one for all. Mr. Barber will be ready to give up several times but in the end he will come through with a harrowing victory. Amazing hidden talent may be revealed. Anyway, the play will help those who stay behind next year to remember the seniors—with mixed feelings, perhaps, but at least to remember us.

WHY DOGS MIGHT LEAVE HOME

Probably your dog thinks too much of you to ever leave home—no matter how you feed him. Most dogs are that way. But the idea of running away will never enter his head if you feed him Kasco. For Kasco is as dog-licious as it is nutritious—as tasty as it is rich in vitamins and other necessary food elements your dog needs.

Get Kasco from your favorite store—then let your dog be judge and jury.

Seniors we're leaving.
Now the time is here.
All our years together
Will be kept as memories dear.
So even though you are going,
Remember friends you have made.
We know our devotion,
For you, never will fade.
So here are your diplomas,
It's time to graduate from
High school days and meanings,
And all the rest of the fun.
Seniors we're leaving,
For college now is to come.
